

User Manual:

A user manual, often known as a user guide, is a technical communication document created to teach people about a certain product. They can be written about practically any product, but are especially frequent with computer software and hardware, electrical devices, and video games. They can be published in print or digitally.

 Login

Login

Please Sign In to Continue

Login  1

Marked Numbers	Buttons-Button Name	Description of marked Numbers
1	Login	Button login logs into the Home page from where the path to every other frame is specified.
2	Home	Home is the main frame of this project. Here there are total of nine buttons for particular action.
3	Form	Form page is the addition of the data in table. Here user can add the desired hospital with category,
4	Table	Table page shows the user data's about the hospitals added into the system.

5	About Us	About us page is the description part of the project where the developer information is given like Facebook link, Instagram link and WhatsApp link where user can contact them.
6	Log Out	Log out button is kept here for user to log them out of the system.
7	Close	Close button is kept there to close the application when desired without having to click on the main close button. It works the same as close button on the upper right corner.
8	Go	Go button searches for the hospitals according to the Admitted price. It makes user easier to search for hospital according to the admitted price.
9	Go	Go button search for the hospitals according to the hospital name. Searching hospital according to the name is easier for the user as user may or may not know the admitted price of the hospital.
10	Go	Go button search for the hospital according to the category(Government or private).It makes user easier to search for desirable hospital according to type.
11	Clock	Clock button gives the user the details about the current time using sys time.
12	Open File	Open file button opens the desired file in its respective editor.

13	Load CSV File	Load CSV button loads the data from existing file in .csv format and add it to the table.
14	Exit	Exit button is kept there to close the application when desired without having to click on the main close button. It works the same as close button on the upper right corner
15	Developer	Developer button takes the user to the About Us page where the information of the Developers is given.
16	Help	Help button guides the user to operate the app. It is kept for the user to run the application smoothly.